At night a roar is heard from the forest. Local hunters find strange footprints, torn animal bodies. Nearby, a group of archaeologists finds a cave and skull of an unknown creature. The Central University sent you on a business trip to inspect the place of the excavations and study the remains.

"Forest, nature!" They said ...

You are a scientist from Central University. Your name is David Smith and you came to Grackham National Park at the request of a group of archaeologists led by Dana Foster.

They think that this is unknown to science a new kind of beast, but you are sceptic and you think that it's just an animal. You need to find the creature, because in the past you were a hunter and have a rich experience in working with wild animals. You have cameras, a map, a flashlight and binoculars.

- The game include single game with story mode and local multiplayer.
- The game has 4 languages: English, Russian, French and German.
- Also there is amateur voice in English and Russian
- You can interact with most objects

Not fun to play at all and no widescreen. Were to start, The first thing I noticed was the voice's from the NPC were extrimly low and hard to understand even with my sound all the way up. Then Im walking to the rager station and as im going up the stairs I get stuck and im unable to get free. Had to restart the game and that fixed that. But I did get stuck on other object in this game. This game is full of glitches. This is more like Project glitch. I don't recommend this game as it is now unless the the gliches are fixed.

See game play and me getting stuck on the stairs: <https://youtu.beVDY6Q-vq9yKQ>. looks promising but its so sluggish. The audio of the characters are awful. no widescreen. needs alot of work doing. but waiting for refund.
